*I am absolutely delighted that - once again!!!
- Joe and Zaneta Rochemont have invited me to travel with Cruise Holidays of Clarkson and our beloved Classical 96.3FM listeners.*

Destination? China.

Those of you who traveled with me to the Mekong Delta, and to France and Spain, will know that right from the get-go not one detail is overlooked. Cruise Holidays looks after our luggage, they ferry us from the airports to the hotels when we land, they arrange for fascinating tours in each and every city we visit and, when we have free time, their staff always have excellent "insider" suggestions on what to do, where to shop, and how to get there in every city and port.

This is an exotic trip that I cannot imagine planning on my own. The good news is that Cruise Holidays of Clarkson has offered this trip before and so they already know all of the ropes. Tiananmen Square. The Forbidden City. The Terra Cotta Warriors - all two thousand of them!!! I can't wait to walk along the Great Wall. I'm already reading up on the history, poring over our route from Beijing to Hong Kong in my atlas, salivating over thoughts of the food and dreaming about the silk!

On Day Nine of our trip, we're going to board a deluxe riverboat for a four-day trip on the Yangtze. We'll cruise through the stunningly beautiful Three Gorges, we'll see the controversial, massive dam and even ride a sampan into smaller gorges and look for monkeys and goats.

At the end of our trip we visit the "Paris of the Orient" - Shanghai - for three nights and then we finish off our grand adventure with three nights in Hong Kong.

My friend, pianist and collaborator Patti Loach, will once again be traveling with us. She totes a huge camera so we're all guaranteed some good photographs. And, to quote one of our dear friends from the Mekong trip, "Whenever I saw Patti's blonde head of curls, I knew I was where I should be!!!"

2011 is the Year of the Rabbit so please get hopping and book soon. I know this trip is going to sell quickly!!!
